Course of Study.

The peculiar location of the Institution seems to require particular attention to the following subjects, viz: Classical Learning — A systematic and elevated course of Female Education — Education of Teachers for Common Schools — Preparation of Young Men for the Counting Room.

CLASSICAL DEPARTMENT.

We regard the study of the Classics of the highest importance in the education of both sexes. The experience and observation of many years as a teacher, as well as the nearly unanimous testimony of those best qualified to judge, lead us to believe that no course of instruction can do so much in a given time, towards disciplining the mind, and treasuring up knowledge to so great an extent, as a suitable course of instruction in the Classics. The constant study of the definition of words and their exact meaning; the continued exercise of the judgment in the choice of words; the habits of fixed attention and concentration of the thoughts so necessary for disciplining the mind; the formation of a correct taste; the knowledge they give of the grammar of our own language; their absolute necessity to an extensive knowledge of Natural History, and the technical terms employed in the Arts and Sciences, are some of the reasons for the foregoing opinion. The Languages will be so taught, that, whatever the attainments of the student may be, they shall be eminently practical.

JUNIOR DEPARTMENT.

Arnold's First and Second Latin Lessons ; Arnold's Cornelius Nepos ; Analysis and Arrangement of Latin sentences ; Daily Exercises in Writing Latin.

MIDDLE DEPARTMENT.

Andrews and Stoddard's Latin Grammar ; Latin Syntax ; Arnold's or Folsom's Cicero ; Arnold's Latin Prose Composition ; Latin Synonyms ; Daily Exercises in Writing Latin, continued ; Arnold's First Greek Book.

SENIOR DEPARTMENT.

Sophocles' or Kuhner's Greek Grammar ; Arnold's Greek Reading Book ; Arnold's Greek Prose Composition ; Daily Exercises in Writing Greek, during the first term ; Weekly Exercises in Writing Latin ; Cooper's or Bowen's Virgil ; Latin Prosody ; Greek Testament ; Livy ; Horace ; Homer's Iliad ; Xenophon's Anabasis.

Classical Students have constant access to the following auxiliary Books :—Anthon's Classical Dictionary ; Mitchell's Ancient Geography and Atlas ; Kreh's Guide ; Ramshorn's Latin Synonyms ; Eschenberg's Manual ; Encyclopedia Americana ; Crabbe's English Synonyms ; Buttmann, and other Greek Grammars.

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH.

COMMON ENGLISH.

Exercises in Reading and Declamation ; Smith's Geography ; Smith's and Weld's Grammar ; Smith's and Greenleaf's Arithmetic ; History ; Weld's Parsing Book ; Book Keeping ; Penmanship.

HIGHER ENGLISH.

NATURAL SCIENCE.

Cutter's Anatomy and Physiology ; Comstock's and Olmstead's Natural Philosophy; Silliman's Chemistry; Geology; Olmstead's Astronomy; Burritt's Geography of the Heavens; Wood's and Lincoln's Botany; Gould and Agassiz' Comparative Physiology; Alger's Phillip's Mineralogy.

MENTAL AND MORAL SCIENCE.

Boyd's Rhetoric; Upham's Mental Philosophy; Wayland's Moral Science; Vandenhoff's and Mandeville's Elocution; Critical Examinations in Prose and Poetry.

MATHEMATICS.

Smyth's Algebra; Davies' and Legendre's Geometry; Davies' Trigonometry; Davies' Surveying and Navigation; Analytical Geometry; Mechanics.

MODERN LANGUAGES.

FRENCH.

Ollendorff's New Method; Picot's Series; Corinne; Henriade; Corneille; Surenné or Boyer's Dictionary.

ITALIAN.

Ollendorff's New Method; Foresti's Reader; Gerusalemme Liberata; Graglia's Dictionary.

GERMAN.

Ollendorff's New Method; Adler's Reader; Adler's Dictionary.

LECTURES.

Spring Term — On Human Physiology, Mineralogy, Geology, and Physical Geography.

Summer Term — On Botany.

Fall Term—On Chemistry, Comparative Physiology and Teaching.

One, or more, of the foregoing subjects will occupy a full course of Lectures during each Term. The Lectures are delivered before select classes, who are expected to take notes and be prepared for examination on the subject matter of each preceding lecture.

CABINET.

There is an extensive and valuable Cabinet of Minerals, embracing many beautiful specimens, from various parts of the world. A set of specimens sufficient to illustrate the principles of Crystallography, and a pretty extensive collection of Fossils, render the facilities for prosecuting these delightful studies amply sufficient for the wants of the student. There is, also, a well arranged Cabinet in Conchology.

TEACHERS' CLASS.

A Teachers' Class will be formed during the Spring Term, with reference to Summer Schools, and in the Fall Term, to Winter Schools. Lectures, and such other exercises will be introduced, as shall best fit Teachers for the duties of the school-room.

Students have access to the most valuable works on teaching, which have been published in this country.

General Information.

TERMS.

The Academic year is divided into four terms of eleven weeks each. Each Term will commence on the first Monday in September, December, March and June, respectively, followed at the close of each term by a vacation of two weeks.

TUITION.

Primary Department, under 12 years,	$2,50
Higher English,	3,00
Classical Department,	3,00
For less than a term, at the rate of	3,00 and 3,50
Drawing and Painting,	1,50
Penmanship,	1,00

BOARD.

Good Board in families in the vicinity of the Academy may be obtained, including the ordinary incidental expenses, for $1,25 to $1,50, for gentlemen, and from $1,00 to $1,25, for ladies.

BOOKS

May be obtained of the Principal, at Portland prices.

SOCIETY.

The United Brothers' Society holds weekly meetings on Wednesday evening of each week, for Debates, and other exercises.

A Paper, conducted by the Ladies, is read at each regular meeting. They have a well selected Library, to which ladies have access free from expense, and the gentlemen, by the payment of a small fee.

GOVERNMENT.

The government of the school will be such, as, if possible, shall secure the implicit confidence of the student, without which no real improvement can be expected. A cheerful compliance with the regulations of the school, will always render the relation between teacher and pupil pleasant. Parents will often do well to consult the Principal by letter, or otherwise, in regard to their own wishes. No student can be retained who may refuse to comply with the existing regulations, or whose conduct may be injurious to the good morals of the school.

INSTRUCTION.

The most approved methods of instruction and text books will be adopted. To discipline the mind and store it with useful knowledge; to kindle up a desire for learning, and induce habits of study; to render all proper instruction in regard to their physical being, and to elevate the moral affections, will each receive their due share of attention. It is, therefore, very important, when it can be done, that students have a definite object in view, and continue their connection with the institution as long as possible. There is a short exercise in Vocal Music every morning, in connection with the Religious Exercises. Classes commence in Latin and French, each term; in Greek, in the Spring Term.

LOCATION.

The Academy is situated in the delightful Village at Bethel Hill. The student will find every thing that can be expected in a village, to render his situation pleasant. The surrounding country is exceedingly romantic, presenting views of great interest to the lover of nature Few villages can be found so well calculated to preserve the morals of students. Stages connected with the Atlantic and St. Lawrence Rail Road, arrive on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Also, on the same days from Portland, by way of Waterford.

ANNIVERSARY.

An Address will be delivered before the Teachers' Class, on Monday evening, Nov. 12th, by Rev. C. Frost.

An Oration will be delivered before the United Brothers' Society, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 13th, by Rev. H. C. Estes.
